DYSENTERY CHOLERA FEVER AGUE, COUGHS, COLDS.

DR. J. COLLIS BROWNE'S

(Ex Army Medical Staff.)

CHLORODYNE

IS THE ORIGINAL AND ONLY GENUINE.

CAUTION.—Vice-Chancellor Sir W. P. Wood stated that Dr J Collis Browne was undoubtedly the inventor of Chlorodyne; that the story of the defendant, Freeman, being the inventor was deliberately untrue, which he regretted had been sworn to. Eminent hospital physicians of London stated that Dr. J. Collis Browne was the discoverer of Chlorodyne; that they prescribe it largely, and mean no other than Dr. Browne's.—See Times, July, 12, 1864.

The Public, therefore, are cautioned against using any other than

DR. J. COLLIS BROWNE'S CHLORODYNE.

REMEDIAL USES AND ACTION.

This invaluable remedy produces quiet, refreshing sleep, relieves pain, calms the system, restores the deranged functions, and stimulates healthy action of the secretions of the body, without creating any of those unpleasant results attending the use of opium. Old and young may take it at all hours and times when requisite. Thousands of persons testify to its marvellous good effects and wonderful cures, while medical men extol its virtues most extensively.

CHLORODYNE is admitted by the profession to be the most wonderful and valuable remedy ever discovered.

CHLORODYNE the best remedy known for coughs, consumption, bronchitis, asthma.

CHLORODYNE effectually checks and arrests those too often fatal diseases—diphtheria, fever, croup, ague.

CHLORODYNE acts like a charm in diarrhœa and is the only specific in cholera and dysentery.

CHLORODYNE effectually cuts short all attacks of epilepsy, hysteria, palpitations and spasms.

CHLORODYNE is the only palliative in neuralgia, rheumatism, gout, cancer, toothache, meningitis, &c.

EXTRACTS FROM MEDICAL OPINIONS.

The Right Hon. Earl Russell communicated to the College of Physicians and J. T. Davenport, that he had received information to the effect that the only remedy of any service in Cholera was Chlorodyne. See Lancet, Dec. 31, 1864.

From A. Montgomery, Esq., late Inspector of Hospitals, Bombay.—"Chlorodyne is a most valuable remedy in Neuralgia, Asthma, and Dysentery. To it I fairly owe my restoration to health, after eighteen months' severe suffering, and when other remedies had failed."

Dr. Lowe, Medical Missionary in India, reports [December, 1865] that in nearly every case of Cholera in which Dr. J. Collis Browne's Chlorodyne was administered, the patient recovered.

Extract from the General Board of Health, London, as to its efficacy in Cholera.—"So strongly are we convinced of the immense value of this remedy, that we cannot too forcibly urge the necessity of adopting it in all cases."

See leading article, Pharmaceutical Journal, Aug. 1, 1860, which states that Dr. J. Collis Browne was the inventor of Chlorodyne; that it is always right to use his preparation when Chlorodyne is ordered.

CAUTION.—None genuine without the words "Dr J. Collis Browne" on the Government Stamp. Overwhelming medical testimony accompanies each bottle

THE LEADING SCIENTISTS OF TO-DAY agree that most diseases are caused by disordered Kidneys or Liver. If, therefore, the Kidneys and Liver are kept in perfect order, perfect health will be the result. This truth has only been known a short time and for years people suffered great agony without being able to find relief. The discovery of Warner's Safe Kidney and Liver Cure marks a new era in the treatment of these troubles. Made from a simple tropical leaf of rare value, it contains just the elements necessary to nourish and invigorate both of these great organs, and safely restore and keep them in order. It is a POSITIVE REMEDY for all the diseases that cause pains in the lower part of the body—for Torpid Liver—Headaches—Jaundice—Dizziness—Gravel—Fever, Ague—Malarial Fever, and all difficulties of the Kidneys, Liver and Urinary Organs.

It is an excellent and safe remedy for females during Pregnancy. It will control Menstruation and is invaluable for Leucorrhœa or Falling of the Womb.

As a Blood Purifier it is unequalled, for it cures the organs that make the blood.

READ THE RECORD.

"It saved my life."—E. B. Lakely, Selma, Ala.

"It is the remedy that will cure the many diseases peculiar to women."—Mother's Magazine.

"It has passed severe tests and won endorsements from some of the highest medical talent in the country."—New York World.

"No remedy heretofore discovered can be held for one moment in comparison with it."

—Rev. C. A. Harvey, D.D., Washington, D.C.

This remedy, which has done such wonders, is put up in the LARGEST SIZED BOTTLE of any medicine upon the market, and is sold by Druggists and all dealers at $1.25 per bottle. For Diabetes, enquire for WARNER'S SAFE DIABETES CURE. It is a POSITIVE Remedy.

BONUSES.

This city ought to secure the power from the legislature of granting bonuses to persons willing to establish enterprises which will give employment to artisans and laborers within the city limits. All other Canadian towns have the right and frequently exercise it. Sometimes the bonus takes the shape of an exemption from taxation for a number of years; at others land is given or free water privileges accorded; again, the municipalities loan a sum of money without interest, secured on the property; orten the bonus is a money-gift upon compliance with certain stipulations. In looking through the Act we observe that this most necessary power is withheld from municipalities in this province; why, is not clear. Are municipal officers supposed to possess souls that are not above "buttons?" Are they to be cribbed in their powers to the improvement of sidewalks, streets and waterworks? Is there no larger object, no grander purpose which might profitably be confided to their fostering care than the supervision of a police force or a cemetery? To our mind a municipalist should be afforded the widest possible latitude in dealing with matters calculated to advance the interests of his municipality, and that where a bona fide scheme for the establishment of an industry which will contribute towards the growth and prosperity of the place and the employment of its people is proposed, the Municipal Council should have the right to devote a portion of the city funds, or credit or property in furtherance of the project. Why a power that all other Canadian municipalities possess should be withheld from British Columbia municipalities is something that we cannot understand; and it is matter for surprise that the mayor and councillors of Victoria city have not long since moved to obtain a power which the experience of older municipalities has shown is necessary for their advancement.

The Dominion and British Columbia.

To the Editor of The Colonist:—

Sir,—As you have opened your columns to correspondents who have taken the British Columbia side on the railway question I hope you will, in a spirit of fair play, allow me to call attention to the other.

At the mass meeting held a week or two ago I was surprised to find a unanimous condemnation of Senator Macdonald and the attitude assumed by him of apologist for the Dominion government. I think this arose, and I say this with all due respect to those who attended the meeting, from a defective perception of the position held by Senator Macdonald. That gentleman is not and does not claim to be one of the people's representatives. He was not elected to look after the interests of Victoria, Vancouver Island, or British Columbia. He was selected by the Dominion government to protect its interests in the Senate and, so far as I know or have heard, has faithfully done so.

Arguing Senator Macdonald's position with a radical friend the other day he took the extraordinary stand that because Senator Macdonald had drawn a large sum (about eighteen thousand dollars) from the public treasury the people had a right to some return for it. Such a line of argument must be fallacious as if logically applied it would decapitate half the officials in the country. Bastiat, the political economist's, definition of what a government is has the merit of being based on what actually exists rather than on what theorists consider preferable. "Governments," said Bastiat, "are a great invention by which a number of persons succeed in living at the expense of the people." To expect a Dominion Senator from Victoria to stand up for the Island railway is altogether unreasonable because opposed to many years' experience. British Columbia might just as well expect value received for what it pays into the Dominion treasury. Senator Macdonald is wise to defend the policy of the Dominion government and as that is not to build, if it can possibly help it, the Esquimalt and Nanaimo railway, which the people want, the Senator, through no fault of his own, comes into conflict with public opinion.

The contention of Senator Macdonald, that the Dominion government has done all that it could and it is quite impossible for it to build 70 miles of railway between Esquimalt and Nanaimo, should not be treated in a cavalier way. It may not be as absurd as it looks. Canada is a poverty-stricken country and for years has been in a critical financial condition. As the Hon. H. S. Langevin remarked last session in the Commons when referring to the state of the Dominion as left by Mackenzie, it "had been brought to the eve of a national bankruptcy; the country was in a most deplorable condition, people were leaving at every point; the revenue had fallen and deficit after deficit had rolled up?" No wonder that the government modified the Carnarvon terms by substituting a high tariff for the Island railway. This change assisted the revenue of the Dominion and enabled it to continue railway construction vigorously on the mainland. The tariff is also a good thing for the Dominion as a whole and is benefiting the Eastern provinces more than would the building of the Esquimalt and Nanaimo railway. It may be oppressive to British Columbia now, but the time will come when wages will be lower, oatmeal cheaper and the population much greater, and then factories of different kinds will spring up which will benefit those living in British Columbia at that time. This is the broad although distant view to take of the situation. As Senator Macdonald told us, we should not be sectional, but look upon the Dominion as a whole. This agrees with what Mr. Mackenzie said in one of his dispatches (about the time of the first accredited agent, Mr. Edgar): "It is especially the duty of the smaller provinces to defer * * * to the old and populous provinces." This British Columbia is now doing about the tariff, and it will meet with the approval of the Dominion government if she follows Senator Macdonald's advice about the Island railway.

If next to nothing has been done in actual railway construction in British Columbia since the date of union, and if the work is to be "played" with for years on this side of the Rocky Mountains, it is gratifying to hear that great efforts are being made to push the C. P. Railway with "lightning" rapidity through the Lake Superior and prairie sections. Patience is a great virtue, and a very useful one in British Columbia just now. To those who possess it not the great Northwest is open. The climate may be severe, but it will improve by cultivation. It should not be forgotten by the disinterested that the Carnarvon terms have not been a dead letter for an attempt was made to carry them out about five years ago. Rails were purchased at double their present price and shipped at great expense to Vancouver Island. As for 4 or 5 years both Esquimalt and Nanaimo had the use of them it is clearly wrong for disappointed people to say that the Domionion did nothing towards carrying out the first condition of the Carnarvon terms.

Were not free governments proverbially ungrateful I should indulge the hope that Senator Macdonald's efforts on behalf of the Dominion government will receive early and substantial recognition from it.

Yours, respectfully,
HAIL COLUMBIA.

What Ought to be Done.

To the Editor of The Colonist:—

Sir.—The many excellent letters recently published in your paper regarding the Esquimalt-Nanaimo railway prompts me to give you a few of my ideas on this (to us) important subject. The time has now arrived for us to come to a definite understanding with Canada. Will she or will she not fulfil her obligations with British Columbia? We are tired of the continued delay and deception. Esquimalt was selected as the terminus years ago and the farce was enacted of turning the first sod and driving the first stake there; steels rails were landed at Esquimalt and Nanaimo, but they have since been carried off to Yale. The long-suffering patience of the people of Vancouver Island has been sorely tried and is almost exhausted. The land is locked up, settlers driven away and rich resources lying undeveloped all through the vacillation of Canada promising all things and performing nothing. We have no mention made of the island railway in the syndicate; therefore it would appear that this subject is ignored. It may be that Canada is indifferent to the possession of Vancouver Island, having otherwise an outlet on the Pacific coast (viz., Burrard Inlet). Previous to our union with the mainland this was a separate colony with a free port, and we had flourishing times. I see no reason why we should not again prosper under the same regime. Therefore, if the railway be not speedily commenced at both ends and vigorouly prosecuted let Vancouver Island secede and make out its bill of costs against Canada. If they cannot agree as to terms submit the case to arbitration by a third and disinterested power (say the United States) as then Old England would not be accused of partiality. Other provinces would not have endured quietly as we have done such continued injustice or delay. The maritime provinces of Nova Scotia and New Brunswick, when they first joined the Dominion, finding that the terms accorded were not so beneficial as they expected, sought and obtained better terms while poor British Columbia cannot get any terms fulfilled and every move is worse than the last. The fact is she is put upon because of her weakness. About twenty-five years ago news reached Newfoundland that a treaty was being negotiated between England and France giving the French fishermen the same privileges as those of Newfoundland (this was in exchange for some far off territory that was to be transferred from France to England) to whom this would have been an act of great injustice; but the Newfoundlanders would not stand it and rose en masse. All places of business were closed, the black flag was raised over the public buildings, the Union Jack flying half mast (the union down) over mercantile and private buildings. Meetings were held, the legislature convened and delegates appointed and sent to England, the United States and Canada. The result was that the treaty with France was withdrawn and the people of Newfoundland returned to their wonted loyalty. If the Canada of that day assisted a weaker sister dependency successfully surely the Canada of to-day cannot refuse the just claims that are demanded of her. Should she do so let us cut adrift from the Dominion and with the compensation we can build our own railway and so open up the mineral and agricultural resources of the Island. This will invite population and with a cheap government and free port there is a bright future in store for us.

Frightful Steamship Collision in the Mediterranean.

NEWFOUNDLAND AFTER THE GREAT STORM.

THE STATE OF IRELAND.

ITALY.

SPEZZIA, Nov. 26.—The steamer Oncle Joseph was sunk by collision with the steamer Oritzia and all but 50 of the persons on board perished.

SPEZZIA, Nov. 26.—The steamer Oncle Joseph sank immediately after the collision; 200 persons are known to be drowned and fifty are saved. Heart-rending scenes were witnessed following the collision as the Oncle Joseph was wanting in means to save the lives of a large number on board. Eye-witnesses of the collision say they cannot satisfactorily explain the manner and cause of the occurrence. The passenger list of the Oncle Joseph shows that a total of 264 people were on board and that the sailors numbered 33. Her cargo consisted of 80 tons of merchandize. At roll call of the survivors thirty-five passengers and thirty sailors only answered to their names. The captain perished. The Oncle Joseph was an iron screw steamer of 826 tons burthen.

FRANCE.

PARIS, Nov. 25.—Great uneasiness is felt in England and American circles here, as it is feared many Englishmen and Americans were passengers on board the steamer Oncle Joseph.

ITALY.

ROME, Nov. 25.—Most of the passengers on the Oncle Joseph were poor emigrants from Calabria. The Ortigia struck the Oncle Joseph amidships while going at full speed almost cutting her in two and the Oncle Joseph sank in less than three minutes. The passengers aboard the Oncle Joseph were emigrants for South America. The captain of the Ortigia states that the night the collision occurred was pitch dark and that the Oncle Joseph ran across the Ortigia's bow.

CALIFORNIA.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 26.—Thanksgiving was generally observed in the usual manner yesterday. In this city besides church services there were a number of large social gatherings, balls, etc., including a grand masquerade at the Pavillion.

NEWFOUNDLAND.

ST. JOHN, N. F., Nov. 25.—The steamship Algitha has put in here with her cargo on fire. She is laden with cotton bound from New Orleans to Liverpool.

Reports of disasters already to hand show that the recent gale has been the most destructive ever experienced in the colony. At Old Pelican and other points on the north side of Conception Bay two vessels were lost today. At Bay Roberts the schooner Nalegman was driven ashore but not much damaged. At Placentia the Morning Star and St. Patrick were totally wrecked. At Bonavista the Penguin, Port, Pride of the Ocean and Paragon were lost and eight smaller crafts more or less damaged. The schooner Blinking Bonny was driven to King's Cove and broken up. At Lane Cove, Trinity Bay, the Victory went on the rocks and was dashed to pieces. Several wrecks are reported at Green Bay, but nothing definite is known; between 20 and 30 vessels left for northern ports shortly before the gale and it is feared many of them and all hands are lost.

IRELAND.

DUBLIN, Nov. 25—An application was made to-day in the Queen's bench division for an attachment against the Evening Mail newspaper for articles prejudicing the trials of the traversers. Monroe, the law adviser to the late government, who appeared as counsel for the Evening Mail, asked for an adjournment so as to enable him to prepare an affidavit to meet the charge at once. This was agreed to and the hearing adjourned until Monday.

The protestant archbishop of Dublin has issued a form of prayer for use by his clergy for the amelioration of the present disturbed state of the country.

ENGLAND.

LONDON, Nov. 25.—All the ministers of the present cabinet council were present to-day. Previous to assembling Forster, chief secretary for Ireland, conferred with the Marquis of Hartington and Lord Granville and went to Windsor and had an interview with the Queen.

The Island Railway.

The Nanaimo Free Press says the Yale resolutions remind it of the fable of the dog in the manger. By the Carnarvon terms $2,000,000 was to be spent annually in railway construction on the mainland and the Nanaimo-Esquimalt railway was to be commenced immediately and pushed rapidly forward to completion. The mainland portion of the contract is in course of fulfilment, and not a word of objection has emanated from the Island, but on the contrary the public men and legislators of Vancouver Island have all along assisted the mainlanders in procuring the expenditure of the $2,000,000 annually, and not even pressed the claims of the Island in its right to have the Island railway commenced first. The construction of the Yale-Savona section has not benefited British Columbia to the extent that it was expected. In that case there certainly was more prospective prosperity in the expectation than of actual prosperity in the realization. At all events, the Free Press adds, we are entitled to the Island railway or just and full equivalent, and we think it would show a better feeling and more brotherly spirit if the mainlanders at least abstained from "putting sprags" in the way of obtaining our just dues.

The Poole Murder.

[Special Dispatch to The Colonist.]

NEW WESTMINSTER, Nov. 26, 1880.

Nothing important in the trial to-day. Jerry Woods was under cross examination in the morning; after dinner Hunter Jack the chief of the Anderson Lake Indians, was put in the box for cross examination. He was there all afternoon and on the whole kept to his story. It is impossible to tell when this case will be ended, very likely not before Wednesday or Thursday next.

On Dit.

That the local house will meet for dispatch of business on Monday the 24th of January. In calling the members together thus early the government was acting in a spirit that accords with the wishes of the House.

DEATH.—Mrs. Dobbin, the estimable wife of Sydney Dobbin, Esq., of Esquimalt, died at 8 o'clock yesterday morning. The deceased lady, who had been an invalid several years, had a large circle of devoted friends, who will learn of her demise with a feeling of sincere sorrow. The bereaved family have the liveliest sympathy of everybody in their hour of deep affliction. The funeral will take place on Monday.

FOR THE NORTH.—The sailing hour of the steamer Grappler has been unavoidably postponed until 3 o'clock this afternoon when she will leave for Naas river, calling in at Nanaimo and way ports on the coast. She will have on board about 90 tons of freight and will take up a large boiler manufactured by Messrs. Shaw & Kuna for Dunsmuir, Diggle & Co.

From the North.

The steamer California, Capt. Carroll, arrived here at half past 8 o'clock yesterday morning from Sitka and Fort Wrangel. She hauled alongside the Hudson Bay Company's wharf and after landing passengers proceeded to San Juan Island to take on board a cargo of lime for Portland. A rich quartz ledge has recently been discovered on a creek in the vicinity of Takou river, situated about 140 miles north of Fort Wrangel. Claims have been registered at Sitka where the discovery has caused considerable excitement. Specimens of the quartz brought down yesterday show free gold and there is no doubt that the ledge is rich. The quartz will be assayed in San Francisco. A number of miners who have claims in Cassiar intend to visit the ledge next Spring and should they find encouraging prospects they will remain there instead of returning to their old stamping grounds. On the 18th inst. there were six inches of snow on McDame creek, but Dease river was open until the 20th inst. The Stickeen closed two days later. The weather at Fort Wrangel has been clear and frosty.

A private letter, dated steamship California, Nov. 22d, says: "After returning from the new diggings discovered near Takou River I went to Sitka to learn the particulars of the new quartz discovery in the same locality. The quartz is exceedingly rich and I am satisfied from what prospects I found myself that the gravel or placer mines will pay. The quartz reefs are very large and well defined and better than any discovered in Alaska before, or even in British Columbia. The reefs lie about 160 or 170 miles north of Fort Wrangel. On the mainland small prospects were discovered on three creeks, the largest and best of them being about the size of Dease creek. So far the discoverers of the diggings and the party I belong to are the only locators of claims. Vanderbilt's steamer leaves Sitka to-day with a number of miners for the place. Nothing can be done in locating claims till next spring. I shall go up again to locate on the quartz vein. These diggings may be in British territory. There is no law in Alaska, and I anticipate a great deal of trouble if the mines should turn out rich."

Prospectors who were on Takou river when the accent earthquake occurred represent that the shock was very violent. The glaciers there are very numerous and in several cases they were split from base to summit and great masses were cast into the valleys and creeks, filling them up.

Aquatic Sports.

There is a strange and almost unaccountable apathy in local acquatic circles. With a beautiful stretch of water easy of access and with numerous boats of every description available it is at least remarkable that no such thing as a boating club exists in the capital of the province. There is no lack of talent, but there is doubtless a lack of energy. A course, almost three miles in length, could readily be obtained for outriggers and in the summer months sailing boats can leave James Bay bridge, pass through the mouth of the harbor and cruise outside without the least impediment. Other provinces pride themselves on the possession of crack oarsmen and the city of Toronto has produced the champion sculler of the world. It has already been announced that royalty will visit this province next summer and steps have been taken to draw up a programme of aquatic sports and horse races. An opportunity is thus afforded young British Columbia to display its prowess both on water and on land. Last season was particularly meagre of aquatic events; but it is hoped that 1881 will give a better account of itself. We would advise the youth of the city to commence training early next spring and bring themselves to as near a state of perfection as possible. The wretched apologies for regattas that have taken place in past years—events which have formed the main feature in the celebration of the Queen's birthday—should be abolished and substituted by genuine sports. There should be no such thing as one crew winning all the principal races and dividing the public purses. A boating club, established on a proper basis, would not only thrive, but in their honest contests would contribute alike to the amusement of the community and the members of the club themselves. Steps might at once be taken to establish an association embracing all the national sports which are peculiar to Young England and should be pursued by Young British Columbia.

SHEEP KILLING.—At North Dairy Farm where Batchelor & McPhaden's sheep run, mischievous dogs entered the fold on Wednesday night and worried ten of the poor animals to death. A similar misfortune befel Deans' sheep at the farm on Mount Tolmie cross road. The indifferent manner in which some people who have dogs that would be really valuable if properly trained and looked after permit their animals to roam through the district cannot be too highly reprehended and if the stockraisers were to adopt means for the destruction of the pests they could scarcely be blamed. What with wild beasts on the one hand and tame beasts on the other the life of the average sheep is a hard one.

TWO MOONS.—Anyone who will take a small mirror these clear evenings and hold it in such a manner that the planet Jupiter will be reflected in it can plainly see two moons, one on either side of the bright star. By standing with the back to the planets and holding the glass up in front the moons can be plainly seen.

J. BAGNALL, PIANO AND ORGAN TUNER AND REPAIRER, is home again. Instructions for tuning and repairing left at the store, Government street, will be promptly attended to. J. B. has been established in Victoria 18 years. *

THE steamer Maude will leave here this morning for Salt Spring Island to bring down a band of sheep from Messrs. Pimbury Bros' farm for Messrs. Goodacre & Dooley.

THE PRINCESS ROYAL from London will arrive at Christmas with nine pianos and a large assortment of musical instruments for Bagnall & Co., Government street, Victoria. *

THE steamer Enterprise left at her usual hour yesterday morning for New Westminster and way ports. Her passenger list will be found elsewhere.

THE recent performance of the Amateur Dramatic Society at the Theatre Royal netted $171 for the Protestant Orphanage.

GREEN PEAS from the garden of Councillor Mansell graced the table at the Mayor's dinner on Tuesday. How is that for climate?

Nanaimo.

[Free Press.]

The schooner Mary Parker has arrived from Puget Sound with a cargo of hay and oats. From this port she will proceed to Texada Island and there take on a cargo of iron ore for Port Townsend.

Jamieson & Tree have been awarded the contract for sinking a shaft in the old Douglas mine.

Hyde and Francis have been awarded the contract for running levels and mining coal on one side of the slope in the Fitzwilliam mine, and Hawkes and Ganner for running levels and mining on the other side of the slope. Their contracts include the mining of the coal and delivering it at the slope. W. McGregor will have the supervision of the work of bringing the coal to the surface and shipping.

The ship Shirley is due for a cargo of Wellington coal, having sailed from San Francisco on the 6th inst.

PERU AND CHILE.

SHOCKING SCENES TO BE SEEN ON THE GROUND OF BATTLE.

What a Man-of-War's-Man Saw—The Wild Plunge of a Brave Peruvian Officer—A Mystery in a Stranded Hulk.

CALLAO (Peru), Sept. 24.—The famous Huascar, of Shah memory, and late of the Peruvian navy, with her two captors, Blanco Eucalada and Cochrane, blocks the port she once defended. These vessels and several transports lie moored with springs on their cables near the northern end of San Lorenzo Island, and each take turns in patrolling the harbor mouth. The Peruvians, though whipped every time they get where the Chileans could handle the bayonet, have some heavy guns ashore, and by their frequent use keep their enemies at a safe distance. The Angamos has one gun.

AN IMPROVED ARMSTRONG RIFLE

Of prodigious length, and Callao never mistakes the day on which this magnificent animal goes into action. Moored in close to the batteries, and protected by sandbags, is the corvette La Union, and an old monitor (its mate lies bottom up in Arica Bay), the sole survivors of Peru's naval power, and the Angamos stands six or seven miles away and rustles those sandbags around with wonderful energy and precision. These two vessels seem at present to be the objective point with the Chileans, for the forts are too strong and the monitor too worthless; so the gallant little ship which at Arica fought a hostile fleet on one side while taking in coal on the other, now ignobly takes her ease—and occasionally a shell from over the bay, when the Agamos is abroad. As she is in good condition, and can outsteam anything on the coast, why she don't run the blockade and go to burning Chilean transports, is a wonder. But the Peruvians pay them back. They freight a sailboat with a cargo of vegetables, potatoes, dynamite, cabbages, etc., and manage to lose them some night on the bay, and the patrol runs them in. Last July the Loa picked up one of these decoys, and her commander ordered his men to discharge the prize cargo. Well, he and the Loa are under the bay, and Peru has about 150 foes less to fight than before. And again.

THE DEATH DEALING DYNAMITE.

Three or four days ago the Covadonga, another transport, was keeping things straight in front of Ancon, a port near Callao, when a new nicely painted whale-boat was seen drifting about. The Chilean Captain cautiously sent the carpenter to carefully examine the prize, who did so, and reported the stranger harmless. She was taken alongside and falls rigged, preparatory to hoisting her up on the davits. But the iron rings in the stem and stern, through which the falls hooked, were the agents of a machine most infernal, that was cunningly concealed beneath the lining of the boat. When all was ready, the deck officer gave the order to "hoist;" and that order hoisted him into eternity, for the dynamite worked with its accustomed promptness and execution. So the Covadonga, carrying down most of her crew, lies with her sister in arms, sister in misfortune. We have no rains here, but instead a continual cloudy sky, and dark, misty nights; but the blockaders turn on their electric lights, throwing the big, powerful ray here and there over the harbor, in search of the torpedo launches, of which they have just cause to fear. Thus the fun goes on from day to day, while we, with the other foreign men-of-war, lie out of gun fire and look on. 'Tis amusing to note how the Supreme Chief, as they call the President, and the newspapers lead the forlorn hope of Peru. Every little unsuccessful move, every Chilean shell that falls short, is quickly telegraphed to Lima, and the item appears in print next morning as a defeat that ought to clothe Chile in sackcloth. The other day, during the bombardment, three tugs, with a small gun each, and with volumes of black smoke issuing from their smoke-stacks, steamed frantically out toward the ironclads. This action was so useless and their appearance so insignificant that the Pilcomayo, which was on guard, paid no attention to them, but passed on her way toward the north end of her beat. Next day, the account in the South Pacific Times was

A MARVEL IN THE WAY OF COLOR.

"Three launches," it said, "drove the valiant (?) invaders from the bay," etc. A shell from the Angamos struck the most venturesome craft as she was returning to the wharf, killing her captain and sinking the boat.

But the Dictator says "every Peruvian that can fight, for defence, and not two hundred millions for tribute." Apparently he means it, for he is gathering every gun and man around his capital for the final slaughter— about 30,000 are at Lima now. Sleeps Napoleon-like on a camp-bed in a tent in preference to a palace hard by, and drills his recruits unceasingly. The victorious Chileans are massing in the south, and, "on to Lima" is their war cry. And they will get there, too, for they are well armed, energetic, uncontrollable, and fight like mad devils. So if the other powers don't stop this useless butchery, the single star flag will rise through blood and ashes over the "City of the Kings," for Chile is merciless, and her enemy will feel a sword sharper than ever Inca saw.

A few days ago the Lackawanna sent us down to Arica, the strongest fortified place in Southern Peru, now occupied by the Chilean forces. It is defended by the heavy guns of the Morro—a bluff over 500 feet high—another armed hill called the Citadel, and a battery on the line of the Arica and Tacua Railroad, and yet the Chileans came one morning about five o'clock, and while their Krupp rifles were pitching shell across the valley from the opposite ridge, charged up the hill and

TOOK THE WHOLE PLACE

Before breakfast. They caught a Peruvian engineer who was planting a torpedo crop, and interrupted his agricultural operations. A revolver at his head revealed the burial-place of these explosives, and they "passed by on the other side" in safety. They took the citadel before the garrison could spike their guns, and this battery was soon worked on the others. The Peruvians after prematurely firing a mine and almost destroying one of the best regiments, all retreated toward the Morro. Those who did not quickly gain that heights were cornered and slaughtered by the cavalry in the town. The Morro, though inaccessible from the sea, is poorly fortified on the land side, was soon in possession of the enemy, and the allies, fighting hand to hand, had fallen back to the brink of the precipice. Behind was death on the rocks below, before was death on the bayonets of a coming foe. Here, fighting, fell Moore, refusing to surrender and save his life, though called upon to do so. Poor fellow! he lost the Independencia at the beginning of war, and knew that a court martial, and perhaps death, awaited him at Lima, and chose to die thus. A young Peruvian officer, with left arm broken by a musket ball, after trying in vain to rally his men to the charge, was seen to draw his cap across his horse's eyes, and with one last "Vive la Peru!" boldly leap the low parapet of sand bags, and fell 350 feet to the beach below. Many were hurled over, and bodies mangled by the rocks, and torn by the birds, can yet be seen high up on the side of the cliff, it being impossible to dislodge them without the aid of long ropes; and as the victors don't seem to suffer any inconvenience therefrom, they are permitted to remain within a stone's throw of the boat-landing. At the foot of the precipice we saw the remains of three or four soldiers lying where they had fallen. We found one shoe with a human foot therein, broken from the ankle—detached, probably, in a terrible descent. We tramped out over the sand to the ruin of a graveyard, and passing through a rude archway, surmounted by two stone owls, saw

ANOTHER HORRID SPECTACLE.

Coffins lying carelessly around on the ground; and lifting up a fragment of the lid with our cane, looked down on the putrid mass within. In many places the coffins had been hauled out of their pigeon-hole places in the thick wall and broken open. But we soon became satisfied and passed out from the dismal charnel pew with a feeling of immense relief.

The U. S. steamer Wateree, which was tossed ashore in the great wave of 1868, lies perfectly upright on a level plain about three miles from the town, and patriotism, or curiosity, prompted us to walk out there alone. Passing the fort where the retreating Peruvians destroyed their 250-pounders with dynamite, down through the deserted rifle-pits, we rested in the shade of the old hulk. She lies with her starboard side to the sea, about three-fourths of a mile from the water, and is a very prominent land-mark from the bay. She is a double-ender of the "Mohongo" class, and on the port side she is broken—by the terrific force of the tidal flood. A shot hole in the iron hull, tells of accurate aim of the Huascar's gunners, when they were using her for a target, months ago. Climbing with some difficulty up the frame of her wheel, we looked down and found her to be nothing but an iron shell from which every particle of the wood work is gone and perfectly empty. Sliding down inside at the risk of breaking our neck we almost fell on the body of a man dressed in good civilian clothes: white shirt, white under-clothing, white socks, but no shoes. He had light hair and beard, a bullet-hole in the forehead, and had been dead about two months. No one can tell anything concerning him, and who he is or how he came there is a mystery. This appearance, coupled with the fact that it was getting dark, following so soon after the horrible sights of the day, began to act on our nerves, and on the painted side of the hull we saw written with pencil, over the date of "August 23d," the autographs of three officers of the Huascar, who were afterwards killed when that vessel was captured by the Chileans. We had seen enough, and, hastily scrambling out, we quickly left the dead ship, dead man and dead names behind, in the gathering gloom of a thick Peruvian night.

THE SPIRIT OF THE AGE denotes a struggle to excel. Everything must bow to this ambition as if it were a supreme mandate. To meet this strife and encourage all competitors, fortunately Nature has imbued individual minds with great dissimilarities in tastes. Who will presume to say that the Christmas and New Year Cards issued from the house of Sidney Saunders of London, are more chaste or elegant than those from Prang & Co. of Boston? We have been culling the choicest gems from these and other publishers which come dropping into our place of business like a shower of pearls in season to reach their addresses abroad in the nick of time.
